DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification provides support for cooling a formed glass panel, a component that forms a hot display tube, such that the surface temperature of the inner corners remains below a strain point temperature. The specification fails to support cooling a hot-display tube, as instantly claimed, such that the surface temperature of the inner corners remains below a strain point temperature. The specification supports cooling a formed glass panel, a component that makes up a hot display tube, but does not support cooling the whole hot display tube as instantly claimed, since the term "hot display tube" would not only include the glass panel but also the glass cone that is part of the hot display tube. Hence, the specification only supports the cooling of a glass panel, a component of a hot display tube, and not a hot display tube that would include among other things, a glass cone.

Applicant is also referred to the first two lines of page one of the specification noting: "The invention relates to a method of manufacturing a display tube comprising the step of press-forming a glass display panel." See also lines 22ff: "To this end, the method in accordance with the invention is characterized in that, during at least a part of the step of press-forming the glass panel, the surface temperature of the inner comers of the panel is kept at a value below the surface temperature of the centre of the glass panel." Hence, this clearly shows that the instant invention is drawn to only the glass panel and not to the cooling of the whole hot display tube as instantly claimed.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
